Wisconsin Company to Implant Microchips In Employees
Josh Rosenthal of 5 Eyewitness ABC News - July 24, 2017

"A Wisconsin company is about to become the first in the U.S. to offer microchip implants to its employees. Yes, you read that right. Microchip implants. 'It's the next thing that's inevitably going to happen, and we want to be a part of it,' Three Square Market Chief Executive Officer Todd Westby said. The company designs software for break room markets that are commonly found in office complexes. Just as people are able to purchase items at the market using phones, Westby wants to do the same thing using a microchip implanted inside a person's hand. 'We'll come up, scan the item,' he explained, while . . ."

Swedish Commuters Can Use Futuristic Microchip Hand Implant:
 The future is here — a Swedish rail company is trialing letting passengers use biometric chips as tickets. Helen Coffey of The Independent - June 16, 2017

"Gone are the days when an e-ticket was seen as cutting edge — one Swedish rail company is offering passengers the option of using a biometric chip implanted into their hand in lieu of a paper train ticket...The tiny chip has the same technology as Oyster cards and contactless bank cards...to enable conductors to scan passengers' hands...Around 2,000 Swedes have had the surgical implant to date, most of them employed in the tech industry."

"A new candidate has arrived, and one that is garnering praise and attention worldwide as the next innovative breakthrough. More noticeably, hardly anyone is even talking about its potential as the mark of Revelation 13. These devices are known as electronic tattoos. Made out of flexible silicon and rubber, the tattoo is applied in a similar way as a temporary tattoo, and is completely non-invasive and pain free. People around the world, Christians included, are so focused on its application as a biomedical savior that can handle everything from giving you a weather report, to monitoring and adjusting blood sugar levels, and just about any other practical function for a modern world . . . China Installs Surveillance Cameras in Churches to Monitor Christians

By Michael Foust, ChristianHeadlines.com, Tuesday, June 11, 2019

"China's Orwellian-like network of surveillance cameras now includes churches. Most churches...have government-mandated surveillance cameras that allow the communist government to monitor the congregation's every move...The cameras are part of a massive network of cameras across China that allow the government to monitor citizens. There are an estimated 176 million surveillance cameras across China...That number could reach 450 million by 2020."

16-17

Mounce-Notice that Revelation 13:16 uses the terms "small and great, free and slave, rich and poor" to describe those under the dominion of the future Antichrist or Beast. "Such a coupling of opposites is a way of stressing the totality of human society. John mentions six classes of people from the social, cultural, and economic categories."

Terry L. Cook, The Mark of the New World Order (Springdale, PA: Whitaker, 1996), 203-04. "The New World Order economists are not ignorant of the importance of cash and its ability to inhibit their control of the world. They are aware that in order to completely control, track, and monitor the global population, they must first eliminate the use of cash. With cash, there is no way to know how people are using their finances, whether for or against the government and its agenda. Because control of one's finances in essence means control of one's entire life, advocates of world government have for decades been promoting a move toward cashless transactions via a myriad of banking plans, ATM machines, credit cards, point-of sale-machines, credit data – all funneled through massive computer systems. Eventually the goal is control of all these computers by the economic leaders of the New World Order."

As noted by Liz Moyer in Forbes: "Money is becoming more of a concept than a physical entity...People are using debit and credit cards in more and more everyday situations, from meals purchased at fast food restaurants and fuel purchased at gas stations, to movies, groceries, sundries, highway tools, and clothing. Even New York City taxicabs are rigged with electronic readers. Increasingly, paychecks are electronically deposited, and the money for bills they pay – mortgage, utilities, cable and phone – are paid electronically as well. Banks offer incentives to consumers for using these direct pay options, which allow them to keep better tabs on their customers and their money. Welfare and food stamps are issued on cards, which can be downloaded at the register or through an automated teller machine.”

Liz Moyer, “The Myth of the Cashless Society,” online: http://www.forbes.com/2006/02/11/cashless-society-cash\_cx\_em\_money06\_0214cashless.html , February 14 2006, accessed 14 January 2016.

Congressman John Dingell, an Obamacare advocate, unintentionally admitted as much during a live telephone interview concerning the imminent passage universal health care legislation in America. Dingell made the following remark to Paul W. Smith on Smith's Monday morning radio show (Detroit WJR News/Talk 760) on March 22, 2010:

“The harsh fact of the matter is when you're going to pass legislation that will cover 300 [million] American people in different ways it takes a long time to do the necessary administrative steps that have to be taken to put the legislation together to control the people (italics added).”

CHINA’S chilling dictatorship is moving quickly to introduce social scorecards by which all citizens will be monitored 24/7 and ranked on their behaviour. The Communist Party’s plan is for every one of its 1.4 billion citizens to be at the whim of a dystopian social credit system, and it's on track to be fully operational by the year 2020....Overall scores can go up and down in "real time" dependant on the person's behaviour but they can also be affected by people they associate with. "If your best friend or your dad says something negative about the government, you'll lose points too"... "If people keep their promises they can go anywhere in the world,"... "If people break their promises they won't be able to move an inch!"... Under the system, those deemed to be "top citizens" are rewarded bonus points. The benefits of being ranked on the higher end of the scale include waived deposits on hotels and rental cars, VIP treatment at airports, discounted loans, priority job applications and fast-tracking to the most prestigious universities...

Jaywalking, late payments on bills or taxes, buying too much alcohol or speaking out against the government, each cost citizens points. Other mooted punishable offences include spending too long playing video games, wasting money on frivolous purchases and posting on social media... Penalties range from losing the right to travel by plane or train, social media account suspensions and being barred from government jobs... Chinese journalist Liu Hu is one of millions who have already amassed a low social credit rating. He is now banned from travelling by plane or fast train. His social media accounts with millions of followers have been suspended. He struggles to find work.

India has collected biometric data on most of its 1.3 billion residents, to be used in a nationwide identity system called Aadhaar, meaning “foundation.” Seeking to build an identification system of unprecedented scope, India is scanning the fingerprints, eyes and faces of its 1.3 billion residents and connecting the data to everything from welfare benefits to mobile phones. Civil libertarians are horrified, viewing the program, called Aadhaar, as Orwell’s Big Brother brought to life...Technology has given governments around the world new tools to monitor their citizens...Critics fear that the government will gain unprecedented insight into the lives of all Indians.
